Forces Rushed to Passes 26 Miles From Spain's Capital Reported Winning; Bitter Fighting at San Sebastian on Northern Coast

Associated Press
Madrid, July 24.—Spain's liberalist government forces, pressing a mountain battle with Fascist besiegers northwest of Madrid, reported today they were in control of one strategic pass and were driving the insurgents out of another.

The official radio announced the loyal forces, massed on the Guadarrama mountain range to guard approaches to the capital, dominated most of the vital Somo Sierra Pass and were driving the invaders back from the Leon out.

Sweeping advances on the Somo Sierra front were reported by the Communist deputy, Ibarrauri, who flew over the sector.

At Somo Sierra, Segovia, Avila and other points about Madrid the rebel casualties were said to be large. The radio said fleeing rebels were abandoning much war material.

Three hundred of Gen. Emilio Mola's insurgents were reported to have deserted in the north.

SEEN FROM AIR

An intense aerial bombardment continued at the rebel stronghold of Zaragosa, with loyal columns converging on the city from Barcelona, Valencia and Madrid, reported in sight of their goal.

Navy action, it was understood, was being prepared against rebels in the south.

RUSH INTO BATTLE

The Madrid defenders had flung 6,000 militiamen into the mountain battle twenty-six miles from the capital and the crash of cannonad— (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

FLAGSHIP HERE ON FIRST VISIT

H.M.S. Apollo Reaches Esquimalt Harbor; Official Calls Are Made

On her first visit to this port, H.M.S. Apollo, flagship of the West Indies squadron slipped into Esquimalt Harbor at 7 o'clock this morning and tied up alongside the wharf at the government drydock. Aboard was Vice-Admiral Hon. Sir Matthew Robert Best, K.C.B., C.B., D.S.O., M.V.O., R.N., commander-in-chief of the West Indies squadron.

The ship will not be open to public inspection during this visit, which will terminate when she leaves for Comor Sunday evening. She will be open to the public, however, when she returns here August 21 for Victoria's annual "Navy Week."

Admiral Best this morning received several Victoria representatives in his suite aboard the Apollo and then, accompanied by two of his senior officers, came into town to return the formal calls.

Lieut.-Governor Eric W. Hamber was accompanied by Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown when he visited the cruiser.

Accompanying Mayor David Leeming to the warship were Aldermen P. R. Brown and J. D. Hunter.

With Brigadier D. J. McDonald, D.S.O., M.C., district-officer-commanding at Work Point when he visited the Apollo were Lieut.-Colonel C. B. Russell, D.S.O., Major K. G. Burness, M.C., and Major J. A. Murray.

The first official call was paid on the Apollo by Commander C. T. Beard, R.C.N., commander-in-charge at the Esquimalt Naval Barracks, who was accompanied by Lieut.-Commander J. C. I. Edwards, R.C.N.

Before noon Admiral Best had called at Government House, the City Hall, the Brigadier's residence at Work Point and "Naden House," at Esquimalt.

GAS "WAR" IS STARTED HERE

Motor Fuel Drops to 25 Cents in Sudden Slash at Noon

The gasoline price "war" raging in Vancouver for the last week or two suddenly spread to Victoria at noon today and the price of gas immediately dropped to twenty-five cents a gallon at most stations, a slash of four cents.

"I don't know the reason for it," said the manager of one of the leading distributors. "We saw signs put up at 11.45 a.m. by our chief competitors so we immediately took steps to meet it. It has been going on in Vancouver for some time and I would not be surprised to see it spread over the island."

A check-up by The Victoria Times this afternoon showed that Imperial, Shell, Union and Home were all selling at the twenty-five cent level. Standard Oil stations had not taken any action up to 2 o'clock.

As soon as motorists got word of the price war stations began a big business. "Fill 'er up" was the general order.

NO CHANGES IN BY-ELECTIONS

Baldwin Government Retains Sussex and South London Commons Seats

Canadian Press Cable
London, July 24.—The government counted victories in two by-elections today, retaining Conservative seats in each case.

Col. R. S. Clarke was elected in East Grinstead, an East Sussex county constituency, with 22,297 votes. His Labor opponent, A. E. Millett, polled 5,708 votes.

Polling yesterday was not as heavy as at the general election last November when Sir Henry Cavell received 29,440 votes against 8,097 polled by S. Seuffert for Labor. The seat was made vacant when Sir Henry was raised to the peerage in the King's birthday honors list.

The government also retained the South London constituency of Balam and Tooting, in the Wandsworth district. This traditionally Conservative seat was held, however, by a vastly reduced majority.

It was won yesterday by Lieut.-Col. G. Doland in a straight party fight against Captain W. J. Miller, Labor, 14,959 votes to 12,889.

Sir Alfred Butt won in the 1935 general election by a majority of approximately 9,000 votes and retained the seat in the inquiry last May into the "budget leak."

Yesterday's vote showed the reduced majority was mainly due to non-voters as Labor's vote held about steady. In 1935 the polling was: Butt 22,013, W. D. Lloyd, Labor, 12,960.

RELIEF ROLLS DROP 5,000

More Workers Absorbed in June as Business Improves

Relief rolls of British Columbia dropped in June to a new low point for that month of the year and indicated a reduction of one-third from 1933, the worst year of the depression.

Figures made public by the relief department today showed 79,923 persons, including heads of families, dependents and single persons dependent on unemployment assistance during the month. In addition 783 were registered in relief camps at the end of the month, but these have since been closed.

Five thousand persons went off relief as between May and June, and there was a drop of 6,400 from June a year ago.

Comparative figures for the first half of 1936 and the two preceding years show a steady decline in the relief rolls since 1933, reflecting improved economic conditions in the province.

Following is the table, the figures covering only those drawing direct relief and excluding men in defence camps:

	1934	1935	1936
January	103,132	93,011	96,668
February	104,954	95,530	93,002
March	107,476	94,433	94,238
April	102,253	93,379	90,762
May	98,308	90,919	84,741
June	88,226	86,310	79,923

Each year, during the summer months, seasonal work removes a number of people from relief rolls, as the figures indicate. It will also be noticed that the reduction in the months of May and June this year is considerably larger, by comparison, than in the previous years.

Blazing Woods Are Tinder-dry

Burning along a two-mile front from Station Road to Dunford Road and fanned by a fresh south-west wind flames from a forest fire swept towards Langford station this afternoon, threatening homes in the vicinity south of the Island Highway.

Strenuous work of volunteer firefighters this morning and early this afternoon saved four homes from destruction but these were still in danger at 2 o'clock. At two houses owners had packed their belongings in the road and were preparing to move out.

The fire started about 11 o'clock along the Esquimalt and Nanaimo railroad tracks.

A crew of about 100 men, under Forest Ranger A. C. C. Langstroth fought the blaze with wet sacks and tools and provincial police lent assistance in organizing the evacuation of homes. The fire-fighting force was increased during the day.

The C.P.R. track crew and pump engine arrived on the scene about noon and proved of material benefit in checking the spread of the flames.

SPREAD RAPIDLY
Licking furiously at the tinder dry broom and brush the fire had covered a mile front before a good-sized crew of fighters could be organized. Operations were directed from the forestry station at the junction of Station and Glen Lake Roads.

Homes owned by Reg. Seabrook, Pentt Road; and Russ Beaton, R. M. Carlow and G. Newberry, along Dunford Road, were threatened and the flames made steady progress towards the settlement around Langford Station.

The Beaton, Newberry and Carlow homes adjoined each other and their loss was feared as fresh gusts of wind whipped the flames and the terrific heat hampered the efforts of the firefighters.

Mrs. Carlow had furniture piled on the roadside ready to move. The Seabrook house is surrounded by small brush and at one time this morning the flames were within three yards of the house with a few feet of the outbuildings. Entrances to chicken runs were left open to permit the birds to flee if the fire came too close.

At the Beaton home a crew of C.P.R. men assisted in saving the dwelling as they beat the spreading flames with wet sacks while Mr. Beaton played a garden hose on the roof of the dwelling.

EVACUATE HOME
The home of Percy Welsh, on the south side of the highway, just past Langford Station, was evacuated by 1 o'clock as several neighbors lent assistance in clearing the belonging away.

This home was directly in the path of the flames and surrounded by tall timber and it was feared there would be little time to evacuate if the flames reached the adjoining woods.

Lack of pressure hampered the fighters' efforts. Hydrants at Langford Station and adjoining Langford School were being used, while the C.P.R. pumpers drew on a supply from the forestry branch station.

Around the various homes in the path of the flames owners and friends placed buckets into which they dipped sacks and beat their roofs.

Fate was kind when the Seabrook home was threatened this morning. The flames coming so close that it forced a number of the fighters away. Mr. Seabrook stayed, however, and as he managed to save the house he called again for assistance and his helpers returned.

The fresh winds caused continual new outbreaks along Pentt Road, leading to the Seabrook home. A Victoria Times reporter and cameraman came close to being hemmed in by the flames after looking over the (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

Burrard Poll In August Rumored

August 31 as the date for the provincial by-election in Burrard riding was being speculated upon in mainland political circles today.

Premier Pattullo, in a speech to the Liberal executive there, merely said the Burrard poll would be held shortly.

Announcement of the by-election may be made after the executive meeting. Previously the government said the contest would be in September.

The poll is to fill the seat in the B.C. Legislature vacated by Mayor G. G. McGeer, K.C., M.P. of Vancouver.

Seabrook home. They were returning up Peatt Road to the highway when a fresh outbreak started near the roadside and flames jumped thirty feet high into the taller trees.

Wardens W. R. Scafe and W. Alsdorf were assisting in the supervision of operations and the safety of the residents was being watched by Constable Thomas Byatt of the provincial police.

TRAFFIC DIFFICULTIES

Traffic on the Island Highway also presented a problem for a short time around 12.30 o'clock. Cars traveling in both directions were at first detained at Station Road and Leigh Road, but as the fire progressed and these roads were threatened, it became necessary to resume travel along the Island Highway.

While crews had managed to check the flames in spots the fresh outbreaks made it impossible to gain full control.

As the Times went to press additional forces of fighters were being rushed to the scene with the approach of the blaze towards Langford settlement.

AT SAN SEBASTIAN

Associated Press
Irun, Spain, July 24.—Reports from San Sebastian said today Spanish Communists, holding the devastated city under heavy bombing from rebel airplanes, had threatened to kill 800 Spanish aristocrats there unless the bombing ceased.

The Communist defenders were said to have posted an ultimatum declaring they would line up the imprisoned aristocrats and shoot them down if the air attacks were not halted at once.

Sir Henry Chilton, the British ambassador, was understood to be living in the cellar of a hotel. Claude Bowers, United States ambassador, and the German and Italian ambassadors were understood to be living in cellars of other hotels.

BUILDINGS DESTROYED

San Sebastian was reported to be in ruins, with many houses burned down and blasted away in the stiff artillery and aerial fire which has accompanied the fighting.

British and French warships were expected hourly to try to rescue their diplomats and nationals.

Frontier guards refused to admit a German diplomatic courier seeking to reach his ambassador.

The guards no longer were permitting bearers of diplomatic passports to pass through Irun. The courier was trying to slip through the mountains.

A food shortage was reported to have caused the rationing of all supplies in San Sebastian. The government announced women refugees would be picked up by Popular Front trucks and taken to the Franciscan monastery at Frontarabe.

Scottish M.P.'s Stand Suspended

J. McGovern, G. Buchanan and C. Stephen Must Remain Out of Commons For Five Days Following Violent Verbal Attacks on Sir John Simon; Relief Bill Passed

Canadian Press

London, July 24.—One of the stormiest sessions the British Parliament has experienced ended early today when the government's new unemployment regulations were approved in the House of Commons after three Scottish members of the Independent Labor Party had been "named" and suspended for unparliamentary remarks.

The new regulations provide for expenditure of an extra £750,000 (about $3,750,000) for unemployment relief which now costs about £38,000,000 annually.

Benefits will be increased for some 200,000 jobless and radically reduced for about 60,000 others. The regulations will be effective November 16, under terms of the act.

The House rose at 1:45 a.m., the session having lasted 34 hours 18 minutes.

The vote on the bill was 357 to 155. The wild disturbance centred about the Home Secretary, Sir John Simon, who guided the bill through the House. During the criticism Sir John was called a "liar" and a "dirty little rat" by the left-wing Labor men.

The three suspended for their references to Sir John were Jock McGovern, George Buchanan and Campbell Stephen, all from Glasgow seats.

As Sir John explained the bill, Buchanan said: "You are lying." He persisted in the accusation and the Speaker formally named him.

Campbell Stephen and McGovern quickly protested. Votes for suspension of Buchanan and Stephen were quickly carried by huge majorities. The three were then suspended for fifteen minutes during the uproar and when it resumed Seymour Cocke, Labor, Brookline called Sir John a "liar" and McGovern used the phrase "damned liar."

Cocke acknowledged he had broken the rules, but McGovern declined to withdraw and was also suspended.

McGovern was escorted across the bar of the House by the Sergeant-at-Arms who held his elbow.

The suspensions will last five days. In the meantime James Mackinnon, leader of the group, will be severely

The Fascist salute was the common greeting. Even the children were saluting and shouting: "Viva Espana!"

In the fertile valleys the peasants of Navarre worked in the sun; all women rode their donkeys; idlers sat by quietly. The only hint of war was in the uniforms and weapons of the soldiers.

BRITISH SHIPS AT PORTS

Canadian Press
London, July 24.—British warships stood by at various Spanish ports today to evacuate British citizens whose lives are endangered by the civil war in that country.

The destroyers Verity and Veteran arrived at San Sebastian, where Sir Henry Chilton, British ambassador, has summer headquarters.

The cruiser Devonshire arrived at Palma, Majorca, in the Balearic Isles. At Barcelona the cruiser London and four destroyers embarked a large number of British and Swiss citizens.

The flotilla lead Douglas and the destroyers Gallant and Gipsy picked up 155 persons bound for Marseilles.

SAN SEBASTIAN DEAD 4,000
With the rebel forces at Vera, Spain, July 24.—Colonel Villanueva, Spanish Fascist commander-in-chief, estimated tonight 4,000 had been killed in the fighting at San Sebastian.

The rebels pounded the town most of the day with a battery of three "75's." The British and Swiss citizens, and Villanueva said he would continue the attack "if it takes all month."

QUEBEC PENSION PLAN IS SPEEDED

Electors Are Told 30,000 Aged People Will Receive Payments By End of August

Canadian Press

Rougemont, Que., July 24.—The Liberal government of Premier Gougeon had not lost no time putting the old age pensions law into effect, Hon. T. D. Bouchard, Municipal Affairs Minister, yesterday evening told a Liberal meeting here.

At the end of next month 30,000 aged people throughout the province would benefit, he said. The possible outlay would amount to between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000.

Aged people, under the plan, were entitled to an allowance of $365 a year, Mr. Bouchard said. Even if children of pensioners were living, they were entitled to an allowance. Descendants would be called on to support aged parents within their means, said Mr. Bouchard, with the government supplying the deficiency to reach the statutory $365.

Mr. Bouchard said reversals would be appointed next week to study applications for the old age pensions, and cheques would be sent out at the end of next month, just five months after the legislation was passed.

CONSERVATIVE LEADER SPEAKS
Matane, Que., July 24.—The Union Nationale, if elected to office in the provincial general election, August 17, would abolish Quebec's Legislative Council and replace it with an economic body composed of the best brains in the province, Maurice Duplessis, Union Nationale leader, said here yesterday evening.

Political affiliations would play no part in the appointment of the economic body, he said.

He also promised present members of the workmen's compensation board would be replaced if his party was elected.

The Quebec Legislature is the only one in Canada with a second chamber. The members of the Legislative Council are appointed for life, as are the members of the Senate of Canada.

but I couldn't see what it was." She looked at the King, then glanced about and saw McMahon in a stooping position.

"I thought it must be a bomb being thrown," she said. "Then someone rushed to the left-hand side of the prisoner and got hold of his left arm. I saw an object leaving his right hand. I followed it with my eyes and saw it touch the horse." "Whose horse?" asked the prosecutor.

"His Majesty's horse," the witness replied.

The "object" she testified, his the horse near the box taking aim and fell to the ground.

An Appeal For Sanity

"Let the provinces and various sections of Canada work out their own destiny, but all with a common purpose in national matters."—Hon. J. E. Michaud, federal Minister of Fisheries, speaking at the Laurier Club in Vancouver.

MR. MICHAUD IS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA on his first visit to this coast. As he termed it before he left Ottawa, it is a tour to give him an opportunity of familiarizing himself with all the various branches of the fishing industry of this province, with special regard to the salmon run and catch.

The minister's speech to the Laurier Club in Vancouver took the form of an eloquent plea for unity of national purpose among all the elements of Canada's people. He made it abundantly clear that the party to whose policies he subscribes stands for the purpose and vision of Sir Wilfrid Laurier—the purpose which should have for its clarion call the determination of Canadians in all walks of life to "get closer together."

Geographical considerations, of course, impose handicaps as far as personal contact is concerned; but the advice Mr. Michaud gives is sound. It is good Canadianism which all would do well to cultivate in every sense of the term. It is expected, by the way, that when the minister visits Victoria he will speak here.

Bring Them Hither

THE VANCOUVER REAL ESTATE Exchange announces that if 748 more families were to move into Vancouver, the last one would have to live in a tent. We are told that only .85 of 1 per cent of all houses in the Terminal City are vacant and 3.37 per cent of all apartment suites.

For the benefit of Vancouver we shall hope that, in round figures, 750 families move into the third largest city in Canada within the next year. The reservation in this good wish is that all of the 750 families are able to pay their way and not become a charge on the city.

Seven hundred and fifty families moving into Vancouver, self-supporting, would give one of British Columbia's primary industries a great impetus. The demand for lumber would be second to none of the other industries which enter into the business of home construction.

It is not for Victoria to suggest what Vancouver should do; but it would seem pertinent to say that the Jubilee celebrations now in progress in the Terminal City might well be topped off with an invitation to families in other parts of this continent to tie themselves to the Pacific Coast. Victoria, at least, would get the overflow.

A New Locarno

GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE, AND Belgium have agreed that Germany and Italy should be asked to take part in the confab in Brussels to frame a new pact to take the place of the old Locarno Pact.

This is as it should be. Admittedly, Italy and Germany have gone off "the deep end" in their relations with the rest of the world, their obligations, and what not, but the fact remains that in the two countries there are more than 100,000,000 people. Such a large number cannot not be ignored.

For a long time the so-called civilized world tried to ignore 167,000,000 Russians, just because some nations did not like the way they governed themselves. It gradually dawned upon far-seeing businessmen that what Russia did was Russia's business, not anybody else's business.

The three prominent Locarno Pact signatories apparently realize the fact that in unity there is strength, but that "divided, we fall."

World Economic Report

WHATEVER THE RECORD OF the League of Nations may be politically, it is performing a valuable service as a clearing house for international statistics. The Magazine of Wall Street has pointed to the report of Harold Butler at the International Labor Conference at Geneva as an instance of such functioning.

This report may be construed as a balance sheet of world economy. On the asset side is noted an improvement in the index of industrial production in Chile, Denmark, Finland, Greece, Hungary, Japan, Norway, Roumania, the United Kingdom, Sweden and the U.S.S.R. These indices either equal or exceed the 1929 level, while German output is only slightly below the volume of that year. Marked progress is also reported in Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Italy, Canada and the United States. Statistics for France and the other "gold bloc" countries show practically no change, although there is universal tendency towards the absorption of higher raw material prices without entailing a corresponding increase in the price of finished goods. Another account on the asset side of the international balance sheet is a gradual but perceptible decline in unemployment throughout the world, approximating 15 per cent for the last twelve months' period, 32 per cent since 1932.

On the opposite side of this year's statement are posted two major liabilities: first, the contingent liability of "gold bloc" currency revaluation; second, losses accruing from slack commercial exchange. Although according to League statistics the volume of world trade shows a moderate rise from 71.1 to 79.4 between the first quarters of 1935 and 1936, restrictions in force, such as quotas, upward tariff revisions, and clearing arrangements, have impeded the normal revival of international business. Even this moderate improvement may be attributed in a large part to extraordinary circumstances, notably the manufacturing and distribution of war material.

In other words, the recovery has been more evident within the adjusted economies of individual countries than in the international field as a whole.

Telegraphing, 1836-1936

THE CANADIAN NATIONAL THIS week has been observing the centenary of the telegraph in Canada. Few happenings so aptly illustrate the progress of the last century as do the contrasts between the transmission by wire in 1836, thus recalled, and the newest short radio wave facsimile transmission system recently demonstrated between New York and Philadelphia. While Morse's telegraph clicked out its historic "What hath God wrought" at a rate of a few score words a minute, the new development of the Radio Corporation of America can transmit messages at a rate of 12,000 words a minute, and in both directions at the same time.

Moreover, and strikingly characteristic of the newest development, the three-metre wavelength communication system sends whole messages as exact facsimiles of the original message. If the message is written in long hand the message received is a replica and one easily recognizes the handwriting of the sender. Whole drawings, maps, fingerprints and all similar pictures are as easily transmitted. At the receiving end the drawings are made automatically by apparatus which operates at 120 lines to the inch, giving detail far better than the coarse fifty-five line-to-the-inch engraving screen of ordinary newspaper pictures.

Facsimile by radio is, in itself, nothing new. Weather maps have been sent to ships at sea for over a year. The highlight of the new R.C.A. development is that it utilizes a band of radio frequencies never before employed for commercial communication. Only three metres in wavelength from crest to crest, the R.C.A. high frequency waves have as an advantage their freedom from static and as a handicap, for very wide use, their limited range. The limits of horizon from a tall building is as far as the radio waves of this new type can be received effectively. Thus two "booster" stations are employed between New York and Philadelphia and the average transmission distance between stations is about thirty miles.

The economies of the system thus hamper enthusiastic persons who envision the present development as the immediate parent of a similar device which will some day bring into every home a complete replica of the daily newspaper, delivered by wire instead of by hands. Such a system may come sometime, but not just yet.

Notes

No man remains single. If he has no wife, he is married to a factory, a job, a casting rod or something like that.

"Emergencies and decisions in our individual and community and national lives," says President Roosevelt, "are the stuff out of which national character is made."

The Spaniards bring to their fighting something of the technique of a bull in the bullring, striking at everything in sight—even though it be Gibraltar or a British warship.

The "flaming youth" expression as characteristic of this age is going out. "Young people," the president of a Parent-Teacher Association advises us, "are no wilder today than they were in the time of Henry VIII."

Democrats are reported to be not quite so certain of a sweeping victory for President Roosevelt in the elections next November, as they were before the American Institute of Public Opinion completed its poll. The results of this poll would indicate a popular majority of 272 to 259 for his Republican opponent, Landon. At least two presidents have been elected on a minority vote which gave them a majority in the electoral college. It could happen in the present election, for instance, if the popular vote in the south rolled up enormous Democratic majorities only to find them discounted by close results in the large northern states.

On the evidence so far this year it appears probable that the railroads on this continent for 1936 will carry at least 575,000,000 passengers, as compared with 433,000,000 in 1933 and 862,000,000 in the so-called normal year 1926, according to The Magazine of Wall Street. Thus rail passenger traffic may be said to be approximately 67 per cent of normal, against 50 per cent of normal three years ago. Business recovery, reduced fares, increased speed and greater comfort—including the boon of air-conditioned cars—have all played a part in returning passengers to the rails. Yet one has only to observe the volume of ferry and hotel business in such a resort as Victoria or the tourist traffic on our island highways to realize that total travel is far closer to normal than that shown by travel by rail.

Loose Ends

It won't be what you expect—or even what the Pyramids expect—Mr. Ford launches a notable campaign. Toronto is a wicked place—and an old absurdity is perpetuated.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

FANTASTIC

SEVERAL PEOPLE tell me that Mr. Wells' idea of the "Shape of Things to Come," which I mentioned here last night, is too fantastic to be possible. They think Mr. Wells has been deliberately imagining things instead of merely projecting the flow of history sanely into the future. Undoubtedly, Mr. Wells' prophecies will turn out wrong in detail but not because they are too fantastic. Probably because they are not fantastic enough.

The history of the human species during the last century, and particularly during the last quarter of it, suggests, on the contrary, that the species is much madder than even Mr. Wells supposes, so that its future is likely to be much more curious also.

Anyway, whatever happens, you can be sure of one thing—it won't be what Mr. Wells or anyone else expects. It will be something entirely outside the range of possibility, as all our recent history has been. It will be too strange to be true. It will be something which not only Mr. Wells, but everyone else, has failed entirely to foresee, something which no one ever expected.

The unexpected thing is the only one you need expect and the impossible will prove the inevitable. But what I was intending to say is that on September 13 (I think that is the date) everything is going to change. The British Israel movement, so I am informed by one of its chief local preachers, has discovered on the pyramids (which successfully predicted the crash of 1929 as far back as 1928) a definite announcement about September 13. The tremendous change which is coming over the world, the pyramids indicate, will start on that date but may not be visible then.

However, the change will be so complete that Dr. Telford, according to the pyramids, will never become premier of British Columbia after all. (The Pyramids' sense of detail is remarkable.)

The preacher said I would only scoff at this whole notion and make fun of holy things. On the contrary, I am inclined to welcome it, and not particularly on account of Dr. Telford, either. It is probably safe to predict that the world will change on September 13, though the change will not be visible then. You could say the same about September 12 or September 14, or almost any day before or after. That is where the Pyramids and Mr. Wells are right. Things are changing profoundly every day, but are not noticed, and we are undoubtedly entering into such weird changes as even Mr. Wells and the Pyramids do not foresee. If we could stick to Mr. Wells and the Pyramids it wouldn't be so bad. The trouble is we shall undoubtedly go far beyond them.

THE COW

HERE, FOR INSTANCE, is one of the queer things ahead—the elimination of the cow. Mr. Henry Ford has sworn to eliminate the cow. He says he will devote two years of his remaining life—and he is an old man—to the elimination of the cow and her replacement by a milk machine. It is a curious thing when a man has reached the pinnacle of earthly ambition in wealth and honor that he should suddenly thrust it all aside and throw all his remaining vigor and genius into the elimination of the cow.

What, one asks, has the cow ever done to Mr. Ford that he should turn thus upon her? At one stage in the development of the species, the cow might easily have eliminated the man, and there would have been no cheap automobiles at all. Instead, the cow has fed the man faithfully for thousands of years and now her reward is to be eliminated and replaced by one of Mr. Ford's machines. Is it fair?

Some strange philosophers like the late Mr. G. K. Chesterton used to think it would be better to keep the cow and eliminate the Fords. If it is to be a choice between a civilization based on milk and one based on gasoline, there is a great deal to be said for the cow.

EVIL PLACE

IN TORONTO they have found they cannot convict boys of indecency for swimming in trunks without tops to their bathing suits, so the vigilant police are going about the beaches telling the boys that even though their garb is legal, it isn't nice and they had better put on more clothes. Such a policy is highly significant of the mentality and morality of a community. Anyone who can see anything wrong in the clean bronzed bodies of our young boys on the beaches must have some secret evil in himself. Anyone who can see the slightest trace of immorality in it, or anything likely to lead to immorality, must have a nasty, foul mind. If it goes on this way, people will begin to suspect that Toronto the Good is a very wicked place indeed, sodden with secret vices.

OBVIOUS FACTS

GERMANY is spending $4,000,000,000 this year on armaments. This news has caused many editors to remark, with heavy sarcasm, that Germany is also the nation which couldn't pay her war reparations bill.

It is curious that any misunderstanding of this simple matter should still persist. Quite obviously, the European nations can spend huge sums internally in armaments when virtually all the money goes into the hands of their own people and continues to flow back to the government in taxes and thence back to the people in wages. Quite obviously, also, those nations can only pay foreign debts in goods, since they hold practically no gold; and the creditors, on account of their own insystem of internal economy, cannot accept goods because this real wealth would make them poor. Hence war debts will never be paid.

There are two lessons to be learned from this phenomenon—first, that we, like the Germans, could finance huge public expenditures internally if we wanted to, by a sane economic system and without the Germans' insane political system; and second, that the defeated nations wouldn't be creating this huge armament if the creditor nations, including ourselves, had accepted their goods, traded with them and given them a chance to prosper without the necessity of war.

Under the present interesting arrangement, fastened upon the world by the Treaty of Versailles, the victorious nations will pay for the war many times over—the original cost, the huge pyramid of interest thereon and a still bigger bill to prepare for another war to protect the original victory. All this is called winning a war.

DEMOCRACY'S OPPORTUNITY

By John W. Studebaker, U.S. Commissioner of Education

If democracy fails to solve the problems of unemployment, poverty and distress, it cannot survive. If it does solve these problems progressively, step by step, giving the people reasonable hope of being able to plan a better life for themselves, there is no need to fear the imposition of a dictatorship. . . . the technique of majority rule is abandoned when the majority loses faith in its ability to rule.

MEASURE OF OUR INTELLIGENCE

To the Editor:—"As a Visitor Sees Us," by your correspondent "Victoria," was timely. Within the precincts of Victoria proper and the adjacent municipalities there are 75,000 people residing. Yet we have four distinct councils, four chiefs of police and numerous other duplications. One derives consolation and satisfaction from the one redeeming feature of the whole business, that it is all nothing more or less than the reflection of the intelligence of the citizens as a whole, from a business point of view.

WISHES THEY WOULD COME BACK

To the Editor:—In tonight's issue of The Times Mr. Bruce Hutchison writes about the movie of H. G. Wells, "The Shape of Things to Come." It gives me an idea. One Sunday in 1902 I took train from Euston to Birmingham, then the Midland Railway, now the London, Midland and Scottish—L.M.S. for short—and while waiting for the train to back in I bought a copy of Mr. Wells' "The Shape of Things to Come." It was a book written by H. G. Wells, Norman Angell, Edward Noyes Westcott and other well-known writers and authors, have been loaned by the writer of this letter, who signs himself—

LET ME HAVE 'EM BACK.

HIT A RED FOX

From The Hanover Post

When passing through the long swamp about a mile south of Allerton one evening, Mr. James B. Park ran down and killed a red fox. When he first sighted the animal, Mr. Park thought it was a large jack rabbit, but, on catching up with it as it raced along the road in the light of the car, he saw it was a fox. When he attempted to swerve to one side to avoid hitting the animal, Reynard leaped in front of the car and was killed instantly. Mr. Park brought the body home and contemplates having it mounted.

MEDICAL CRIMINALS

From a London Correspondent

Dr. Buck Ruxton, who was hanged recently for the murder of his wife, has borne out a strange coincidence. In every decade during the past seventy years a doctor has been put on trial for the capital crime. Other professional men have been singularly free. Only once, fourteen years ago, a lawyer has been hanged for murder. Journalists have lost their ears and have been stamped on the face with "S.L." (seditious libeller), but they have always managed to steer clear of the rope or even the electric chair.

Doctors who have turned to crime have an advantage over others by reason of their knowledge of dangerous drugs and poisons. They have taxed the efforts of the most skilled experts. The first of five who used his medical knowledge for murder was Dr. Lamson, who was tried for the murder of his little son-in-law at Wimbledon, Surrey, fifty-two years ago, with an almost unheard-of substance—aconitine.

At that time there were no known tests which could prove beyond doubt the presence of this poison, and Lamson's guilt was determined by the revelation that he had purchased aconitine in Ventnor, Isle of Wight, and in Lombard Street, London.

A few years later Dr. Crogas, at Shandy Hall, Cork, used arsenic to murder his wife. There is no legal or official record of his death because the coroner adjourned the inquest in a huff when the coroner did not not give evidence.

Four years after that, several young women in South London were poisoned with strychnine capsules by Dr. Neil Cream, who practised under an American degree.

The famous Dr. Crippen used the little-known drug, heroin, to murder his wife.

In the past century experts were certainly puzzled by the use of new poisons. Palmer, the Rugeley poisoner, employed strychnine, and his undoing was brought about not by the experts, but by the page of a book in which, under the heading of "strychnine," he had written: "Kills by tetanisation of the muscles." Antimony was employed by Dr. Pritchard, the Glasgow practitioner, to poison his wife, and it took a long time before this could be established.

INWARD GRACE

From The Gypsy

Yours may not be the way of larger good. Shining in valance to the startled world; Perhaps life holds you in the brotherhood Of the obscure, who walk with banners furled.

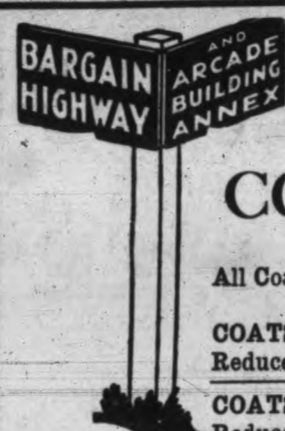

But through the commonplace of deeds expressed Your heart's high purpose may be felt, adorning The days, unseen but subtly manifest. As you pass by and smile and say Good morning.

Candle-light Setting For Wedding

At Johnston-Weeks
Nuptials at Metropolitan Church

Candlelight cast a soft glow over the beautiful setting for the wedding in the Metropolitan United Church yesterday evening at 8:30 o'clock, when Rev. E. P. Church performed the marriage ceremony for Lauretta, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Weeks of Duncan and Mr. Wilfred Arthur Johnston, only son of Mrs. E. Johnston, 732 Fort Street, and of the late Mr. Johnston.

Under the direction of Mr. P. J.
Balagoo, the dais was backed with black velvet, against which were erected tall ivory pillars, hung with crimson rambler roses, while across the front thirty tall cathedral candles shed a soft radiance. In the foreground standard baskets of summer flowers in pastel shades were an effective accent, and crimson rambler roses marked the guest pews.

Entering the church with her father to the strains of the Bridal Chorus, played by Mr. Edward Parsons, the bride was an attractive
ivory satin, made with a high cow neck and long tight sleeves with deep buttoned cuffs. A long full train, lined with flesh pink, hung from the shoulders, and at the waist was caught with a rhinestone buckle.
Her veil of embroidered tulle was worn beneath a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia rosebuds and swansons.

Miss Iris Stark and Miss Muriel
Harrison were the bridesmaids, dressed alike in early Victorian tulle frocks, with shoulder capes edged with knife-pleated frills, which also finished the long full skirts.
They wore bandeaux of pleated tulle, in their hair, with tiny pastel flowers at the back, to match their gowns. Miss Stark wearing lavender and Miss Harrison maize yellow.
Both carried sheaves of African daisies.

The best man was Mr. J. Farey, and Mr. W. Johnston and J. J.
Bacon were ushers. During the signing of the register Miss May Tomba of Duncan sang "Because."

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harrison,
Chambers Street, old family friends, who assisted the parents of the bride and groom in welcoming the guests.
Mrs. Weeks was in a navy blue ensemble of triple sheer, with matching accessories, and wore a corsage bouquet of pink carnations, and Mrs.
Johnston was dressed in cream, with a corsage bouquet of yellow roses.

Summer flowers had been arranged in the reception room, the bride and groom standing beneath an arch of roses and gypsophila to receive the greetings of their friends. Silver vases of pink rosebuds were placed at each corner of the supper table, which was centred with the three-tiered cake, and lighted with tall white tapers in silver holders. The servers being Mrs. W. Hadden, Miss
Vera Brown, Nanaimo, Miss Ina
Castley, Duncan, and Miss Margaret Pattinson, Rev. E. P. Church proposed the toast to the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston left at midnight for a honeymoon trip to Portland, the bride going away in an ensemble of navy blue angora satin, and a pink blouse, with a spray of pink rosebuds on her shoulder. On their return they will make their home on McClure Street.

Among the many lovely gifts was a silver tea service and tray from the staff of the Government Printing Bureau, of which the bridegroom is a member; a standard lamp from Fletcher Bros. (Victoria) Ltd., and a tea wagon from the former fellow employees of the bride.

Octogenarian Has His Seventh Bride

Duke of Kent To Attend Wedding

Canadian Press Cable
London, July 24.—The Duke and Duchess of Kent will attend the wedding at Westminster Abbey on Monday of the Duke's querry, Lord Sidney Charles Herbert, to Lady Mary Hope, lady-in-waiting to the Duchess. Twelve hundred guests will be present and the Dean of Westminster will officiate. There will be ten bridesmaids, mostly from families connected with the royal households. The bridegroom is the eldest son of the Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery.

Birth Control Advocate Is Visitor

Mrs. Edith How-Martyn of England Here on World Tour

Mrs. Edith How-Martyn, director of the International Birth Control Information Centre in London, England, was in this city for a few hours yesterday on her way around the world in the interests of the movement. A graduate of the University of London, holding a master's degree in public administration and political science, she lectured at the university in mathematics till she decided to throw in her lot with Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and wholeheartedly espoused the cause of women's suffrage. Like many who took part in that campaign, she served a prison term, and when success came she took up the crusade for birth control. She is now returning from visits to India and China, where Mrs. Margaret Sanger was with her. She has spoken to medical groups and the public in meetings held in Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle. Her visit here was short because of advertised public meetings she is due to address in Vancouver, at which she will show films of the excellent birth control clinics in England. While here she talked to a small group of interested women, and promised to return and hold meetings when she again goes to China, where she says the need and the desire for the dissemination of correct birth control information is very great. In India, Mrs. How-Martyn addressed and showed films to the All-India Medical Conference which then carried without discussion a resolution recommending the medical schools of India to include a course in contraception for all their medical students. As a result of her visit to Hongkong a Birth Control League is being started there by prominent doctors, ministers and social leaders, and a clinic where British and Chinese doctors are co-operating. In Capetown, South Africa, the birth control clinic is partially supported by the city authorities, and in Sydney, Australia, it is under the auspices of the Racial Hygiene Association, and Mrs. How-Martyn expressed the hope that she had planted the idea and given the encouragement necessary for the establishment of one here. "If in the rest of the empire, why not in western Canada?" she said. "They already have several in Ontario."

Local Man Is Wed In The North

Chas. H. R. Pillar Married to Port Clements Girl

A marriage of much interest in Victoria took place at Port Clements, Queen Charlotte Islands, on July 13 at St. Mark's Church, when Dorothy Irene, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Rennie of Port Clements, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Henry Robinson Pillar, only son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Pillar, of 1024 Hampshire Road, Oak Bay, Victoria.

Rev. Alfred Abraham conducted the service in the presence of a large congregation. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white georgette dress with long, full, pleated sleeves. Her full-length veil was fastened with strands of pearls and finished with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, white carnations and cornflowers.

Miss Betty Williams was bridesmaid, wearing a dress of pale mauve net with ruffled skirt and cape. She carried a bouquet of clove pink carnations and wore a hair bandeau of double syringas.

The groomsmen were Mr. Lawrence J. Rennie, only brother of the bride. The bride's mother was dressed in dove-wing grey silk-crepe and large white hat. A corsage bouquet of red roses added a final touch to her ensemble.

The church was prettily decorated with delphiniums and Shasta daisies, arranged by Mrs. L. Dyson and Mrs. T. L. Williams.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall, where the bride and groom received the congratulations of their many friends. A large cake, decorated with white icing and red roses, was served. The bride's mother, Mrs. J. M. Williams, and Mrs. O'Donoghue had charge of the decorations.

Supper was served from a prettily decorated table, the two-tier wedding cake occupying a prominent place. The customary toasts were honored as the bride cut the cake. Mr. A. R. Mallory, an old friend of the bride, acting as toastmaster.

TO LIVE AT COWICHAN
After a honeymoon spent in the Queen Charlotte Islands, Prince Rupert, Vancouver and Victoria, the bride and groom will take up residence about September 1 at Cowichan Lake, where the groom is on the staff of the Cowichan Lake Superior School.

The groom is well known in Victoria, where he received most of his education attending the public and high schools, the Provincial Normal School and the Victoria College. He is a graduate in arts of the University of British Columbia. He has also been a prominent member of Five C's Cricket Club of Victoria for a number of years. Mr. Pillar also taught at the Port Clements public school for several years.

The bride and groom received many beautiful gifts, and among the well-wishers who called to offer congratulations was the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Premier of British Columbia.

Observation of peach trees shows that thick winter produce more fruit buds and the fruiting thick twigs resist winter cold better than twigs that are thin and light.

Grand Regent Welcomed In City

Moose Women Honor Mrs. J. Debus At Entertainment

Victoria Chapter No. 25 gave a royal welcome this week to Mrs. J. Debus of Columbia, Pa., grand regent of the Women of the Moose in the United States and Canada. Mrs. Debus paid a two-day visit here Wednesday and Thursday, and was accompanied from Seattle by the senior regent, Mrs. Casey of Seattle Chapter No. 48.

On arriving here they were the guests of officers, later visiting the Butchart Gardens and many other places of interest, and having tea as guests of the chapter. In the evening many members gathered at the Douglas Hotel for a banquet held in her honor, at which Mrs. W. Kettle, dictator of Lodge 1990 and third vice-president of Northwest Association, was also a guest. The tables were effectively decorated in red and purple, and set off with vases of Shasta daisies and roses, and with the drill team in uniform made an effective and colorful scene.

The programme was opened by a toast to the King, address of welcome given by Senior Regent P. Harkin: "The Grand Regent," proposed by Mrs. E. Burke, responded by Mrs. A. Hatcher: "To Victoria Chapter No. 25," proposed by Mrs. M. Willmott, responded to by Mrs. E. Elmore, both being charter members.

An inspiring address was given by Mrs. Debus, stating that during her year's term of office 8,000 new members had been initiated and thirty-five chapters given charters. She was delighted over the manner in which chapters were developing their communities, as it offered such splendid opportunities as training schools for leadership. It is a great field for service. In all the work women had a chance to develop initiative, resourcefulness and adaptability, and urged a better co-operation with the men's order as the keynote to success.

One of the most outstanding events at the recent Northwest Conference held at Spokane, she recalled, was the wholehearted effort shown to send as representative of the Northwest the ladies' Spokane drill team to national conference next year in Cleveland. Aberdeen, Wash., is conference city for Northwest next year, and she hoped Victoria Chapter would be able to attend in full force.

Short speeches were also given by Mrs. Casey of Seattle and Dictator Mr. W. Kettle. Community singing, with Mrs. Ada Hatcher at the piano also rendering two solos, were enjoyed.

The following day a luncheon was held in the Hudson's Bay dining-room, later visiting Lady Barnard's gardens. As a remembrance of her visit, Mrs. P. Harkin, on behalf of the chapter, presented Mrs. Debus with a lovely framed picture of Victoria harbor.

Members are asked to note that the special meeting of the chapter will be held on Monday evening, July 27, in the K. of P. Hall, 1415 Broad Street. There will be initiation of two candidates for membership into the chapter, the team to come in uniform.

Donations Needed By Sunshine Camp

Eight dollars will pay all expenses for a tired mother or her child for approximately two weeks at the Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp at Saseenos, Sooke. This small cost per person is only made possible by the most careful budgeting, and using volunteer help or already existing personnel wherever consistent with good management. A small permanent staff, consisting of camp mother, and assistant who is also recreational director, and a cook-dietitian in residence throughout the season, and a group of volunteers go out with each party, to help in the care of the children, waiting on the tables and so on.

Only those mothers and children who are in need of the preventive health service given by two weeks in the country by the sea, and who would not otherwise get away from unsatisfactory living conditions are taken to camp. This very necessary community project is maintained entirely from subscriptions given by the general public.

During the warm weather, when the more fortunate section of the community is holidaying, they are asked to think of their less-privileged fellow Victorians.

Subscriptions, marked "Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp," may be sent either to W. H. Davies, 1008 Broad Street, or the Friendly Help Welfare, 1234 Pandora Avenue.

Women Object To Long Speeches

New York, July 24.—Brevity, "the soul of wit," had a vote of approval today from women leaders of the United States Democrats and Republicans.

"Above all, I believe in brevity," were the first words of Miss Helen Varick Boswell, sixty-eight-year-old "dean of Republican women," when she seated herself at her desk as head of the women's speaker's bureau of the London campaign in the east.

A few weeks ago, Miss Mary Dawson, Democratic women's campaign head, publicly lauded "the short sentence," and told her women orators to use terse words.

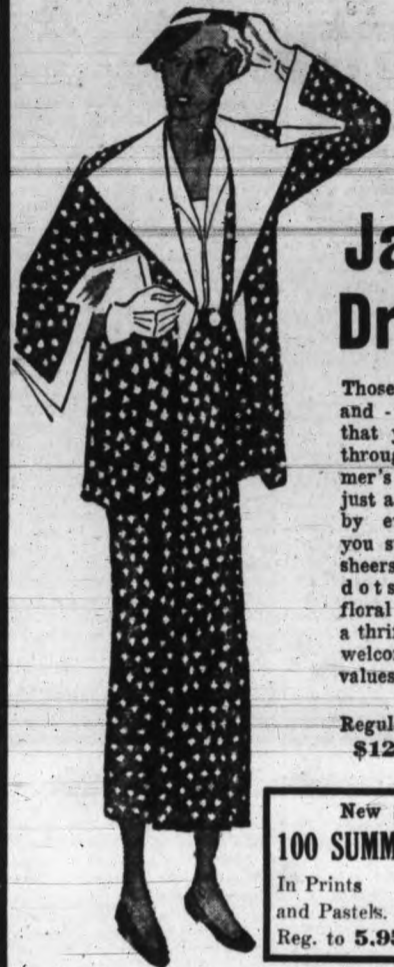

Miss Boswell, who doesn't mind being called "an old war horse"—she has been active in every Republican campaign since 1896, and marched in behalf of women's suffrage—quoted the late Phillips Brooks, who said in praising short sermons: "No soul was ever saved after twenty minutes."

C.G.I.T. Camp At Home Tomorrow

At Glinz Lake, Sooke, forty-five girls and leaders, amid glorious weather, are having a wonderful time enjoying the various interest groups, Bible study, hikes, games, swimming and boating, the camp programme calls for. Tomorrow is "visitors' day," when the girls are eagerly looking forward to meeting parents and friends. A fine programme of sports has been arranged, and the director, Miss Parfitt, and leaders and girls hope many will take advantage of this opportunity to visit them and see the girls at home in their Canadian Girls-in-Training Camp.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERD

THIS BABY NEEDS CUSTARDS AND VEGETABLES TO CONTINUE GAINING

Parents have astonishingly different conceptions of how much food is needed to nourish a child. In consequence some mothers offer a cautious tablespoon when another would be spooning a cupful into her young hopeful.

Likewise, the rate at which new foods are increased is a moot question. If one must begin with one teaspoonful, then how fast may one advance to a tablespoon, a half cup, a cup?

GAINS STOP
Mrs. L. C. O. wants that and some other questions answered. She writes: "I read your articles daily and take a keen delight in them. My five and a half months' old baby weighs sixteen pounds. She was fed on a patented, dried milk preparation and got seven and a half ounces five times a day. She also had two table-spoons of cereal, one and a half ounces of orange juice and a half spoonful of oil twice daily.

"Within the last week she has broken herself of her 10 p.m. feeding and is sleeping all night. While happy and good-natured she has not gained this past week. Am I right to omit this feeding? When should I start vegetables and how fast may I increase the amounts? Please answer this in the paper."

TIME TO START SOLIDS
At this age baby can take eight ounces four times daily and this will take care of four ounces of that missed bottle. The other four can be used in making a custard, with the yolk of one egg, and this may be started in teaspoonful amounts and cautiously increased until baby will take all of it.

So Much for Love

By NARD JONES

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

HELENA DERRICK, youthful head of the women's sportswear department at Helene's store, goes on a week-end party at Crest Mountain Lodge. There she meets handsome PETER HENDERSON. It is a case of love at first sight between them. Peter asks Helena to marry him and the ceremony takes place.

Later, the crowd goes swimming. Peter makes a reckless dive and is seriously injured. Lying between life and death, Peter asks Helena to summon his lawyer, JIMMY COURTNEY. Courtney arrives and a short time later Peter dies.

Helena is informed she is sole heir to a large fortune, including the Henderson department store. She meets her uncle, LEAH FRASER, who has expected to marry Peter, and realizes Leah is an enemy. Peter's uncle, ROGUE BARNES, is also hostile. Helena has planned to give up all claim to Peter's fortune but this hostility makes her decide to take over management of the store.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VII

Roger Barnes stood up, banging his fist on the desk. "I won't be cross-questioned or doubted by this—"

"Take it easy," John Lassiter said. "It's natural that Mrs. Henderson should want to see the facts."

Helena smiled sweetly. "Yes, Mr. Barnes. Of course, there's no reason why you should stand my cross-questioning unless you care to. I'll be pleased to have you continue as manager of the store. But if you feel that you wouldn't be happy working under the new ownership of the store, I'll be glad to let you go. She shrugged slightly, letting her voice trail into silence.

Barnes spluttered. Finally the sounds merged into some semblance of coherence. "I'll be glad of what service I can . . . Mrs. Henderson. But I do want to remind you that I have been in charge of the store for a considerable period. Peter—that is, your husband—was not often here to decide upon matters of policy."

"I'm sure Mrs. Henderson understands that," Lassiter put in.

"Of course," agreed Helena. She looked at her wrist. "It's almost 5.30. I believe that's closing time. Would you mind calling the employees together? I'd like to talk with them. If you don't mind."

Barnes' jaw dropped. "Why, yes, yes," he said. "Together in the auditorium, if you like. But, really, Mrs. Henderson, they know of the—uh—change. There's no reason to put yourself out."

"Oh, I don't mind at all," Helena told him, gathering up her gloves and bag. She turned to Lassiter. "While Mr. Barnes is notifying the employees, perhaps you can show me where the auditorium is."

The banker's son left his chair. "Indeed, I can," he extended his arm and Helena took it, conscious of Roger Barnes' malicious glare. In the hallway Lassiter told her in a low voice, "I'm mighty glad you shot it into Barnes about the credit list he's been carrying. To my mind, he's courting disaster of the Henderson Department Store by allowing those big, long-time accounts. There's a limit to how far an establishment can go to keep good will."

"I'm awfully pleased to know you agree with me," Helena said. "I'm going to need your help, Mr. Lassiter."

He did not answer directly, but the slightest pressure of Helena's arm was all the reassurance that she needed. She would have been less than a woman had she failed to realize that John Lassiter was attracted to her, and that he respected her judgment as well as her charm.

Gently he guided her to the floor above the mezzanine, to the small auditorium which was sometimes rented out to clubs, or used for demonstrations—or, less often, for a meeting of employees. Trying to hide her nervousness, Helena took a chair on the platform beside John Lassiter. In a moment they were joined by Courtney. Plainer than words, his smile told Helena that she was doing very well indeed with John Lassiter.

"Barnes was sending word through the store that the new owner would like to have the employees convene up here," he told Helena and Lassiter. Soon they began to drift in. Helena could sense their unmistakable feelings. The younger women crowded for a place near the platform, anxious for a glimpse of the girl who had married Peter Henderson and who, through a freak of fate, was now their employer. The older women lingered toward the back of the little hall, frankly resentful. "They've been here for years," Helena thought, "and now they're wondering what I'm going to do with them."

The men were frankly silent. They lined themselves along the back wall, not taking notice as if they wanted to be ready to leave at the slightest provocation.

Barnes stepped to the platform. "Employees of the Henderson Department Store," he began in stilted fashion, "we have with us here the new owner of this organization for which we have all worked and planned together." He turned to Helena with an artificial smile. "Mrs. Henderson . . ."

Helena rose. There was a faint wave of applause. "I've got to tell them," she thought. "If I don't do it now, I'm lost." She stepped quickly toward the front of the platform. She had heard that the knees of the frightened speakers knocked together. Now she knew that this was actually true. She was grateful for skirts in that awful moment.

"I—I've never made a speech in my life," she began. Then panic struck into her heart—and was quickly dispelled at the wave of sympathetic laughter which greeted this confession. Regaining her composure, she answered the laughter with a smile. "But I've stood on my feet behind counters a good many hours, so I don't see why we can't understand one another."

"One thing I want to assure you—there won't be any sudden changes in the personnel. I hope there won't have to be any at all, sudden or otherwise. I haven't any definite ideas about the store," she smiled again. "You see, I haven't been here long enough. If any of you, at any time, have anything you want to talk over with me, I hope you will. Because that's the only way I'll be able to learn."

She stopped a moment, looking over the little audience. "I think that's all I wanted to say—except that I hope I'll have your help."

As Helena turned to Lassiter and Barnes and the attorney she could feel the heavy silence down there in the auditorium. "I've muffed it," she thought. "They don't trust me. They don't like me."

Then suddenly it came, a wave of spontaneous and prolonged applause. John Lassiter leaped from his chair and clasped Helena's hand. "You were marvelous!" he exclaimed. "Listen to that approving buzz down there."

Barnes was not enthusiastic, however, and their auxiliary here yesterday.

He was Rev. Glen Stevenson, Dominion chaplain of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada. He is from Port Alberni on Vancouver Island.

The Canadian brought the delegates to their feet time and again with applause as he characterized the League of Nations as an organization of "white-collared gangsters."

"I admire the United States for standing against the world and not joining the League of Nations," Mr. Stevenson declared, "and it is my greatest hope Great Britain will come to its senses and leave the League at once."

Under present zoning restrictions there is nowhere in the city where construction of auto camps is permitted and as a tourist centre the committee felt Victoria should have some provision made for them.

It was decided to forward the question to the council for an opinion.

Other business of the meeting included an application from Major H. Cuthbert Holmes, who appeared to request the zoning of property near the corner of Pandora Avenue and Government Street as a garage area.

The committee will recommend the re-zoning to the council at its meeting on Monday evening.

BURMA GAINING

Toronto, July 24 (Canadian Press).—Burma has climbed from near-bankruptcy to almost normal conditions, and now has no nationalistic agitators, said Sir Hugh Stevenson, retiring Lieutenant-Governor of that province of British India. Sir Hugh passed through Toronto yesterday on his way to England after forty-one years' government service in the east.

ever. "I thought," he said, clearing his throat, "that you intended to outline some policy to them. I'm afraid it isn't a good idea to keep them after closing time just for a general handshake, Mrs. Henderson."

"I don't agree with you," Helena told him, holding her temper with an effort. "I happen to know that there's one thing a loyal employee appreciates—and that's an occasional word from the owner of the firm."

Courtney nodded. "I don't know whether your psychology was calculated or not," he said, "but it impressed them."

"Impress them?" Helena repeated. Then she laughed. "With what?"

As she and Lassiter walked ahead he said quietly, in answer to her question, "With your charm, of course." Then he reddened. "Forgive me. I—I shouldn't have said that. It was stupid of me. But then, I'm a stupid person."

"I'm glad to believe that," Helena told him lightly. "And I don't take such things seriously anyway." Then she thought, oddly, "I do, though. I believed them from Peter, and that's why I'm here."

In the elevator she turned to Barnes and Lassiter. "I see a list of the customers whose accounts have been running ninety days or more?"

"Why, yes. . . of course."

In his office he instructed his secretary to bring the list to Helena. Swiftly she surveyed it, saw the name of Leah Fraser, and of Mrs. Frank J. Fraser. Their accounts showed no amount paid for more than ten months, and Leah's alone was over the thousand mark. Helena turned to Lassiter, handing him the list. "These names mean nothing to me. What would you say about them?"

Lassiter studied the list. "Well," he said slowly, "it's difficult to generalize. Some of these are farmers with assets, and they'll pay when crops are harvested. Some of the others have had profitable investments in the past, but . . ."

he glanced at Barnes. "I should say that they are taking advantage of their reputations as first families in the town."

"I see," said Helena slowly. Then: "Mr. Barnes, I wish you'd have letters sent to all these people, advising them that unless some arrangement is made with the credit department they'll be forced to suspend their credit."

"You haven't got that," exploded Barnes. "Why . . . why, some of these people—"

"We'll have to do it, I'm afraid," she told him.

But downstairs Helena felt her stomachs dissolving. Between Lassiter and Courtney, in the latter's coupe, she suddenly burst into tears. "I—I'm as limp as a rag," she confessed. "I was so bluffing, and I just got out of there in time."

Lassiter patted her wrist. "There, there. You did a damned good job of it, and it was a sensible bluff. As a matter of fact, it was something that the bank would have had to take up with Barnes—and mighty soon." He looked across at Courtney. "I think we've got a mighty fine president for Henderson's, and a mighty fine citizen for the town, don't you?"

"No question about it," Courtney boomed.

"But I'll tell you a secret," Helena managed slowly. "When I've shown them I'm going to turn the whole thing back. I don't want something that doesn't really belong to me!"

(To Be Continued)

TO CONSIDER MILL LEASE

Council Committee Hears Possibility of Renting Ogden Point Property

Possibility of an application being made to lease the now abandoned mill property at Ogden Point, developed at a meeting of the lands and zoning committee yesterday.

The committee was interviewed by a representative who intimated he was interested in taking over the site for manufacturing purposes. It was not indicated by the committee just what the proposal was, and the matter was left in abeyance pending an inspection of the site by the interested party and the city lands commissioner.

The committee also considered the situation here regarding auto camps following the recent rejection of an application by one who desired to erect a bungalow camp on Gorge Road property.

Under present zoning restrictions there is nowhere in the city where construction of auto camps is permitted and as a tourist centre the committee felt Victoria should have some provision made for them.

It was decided to forward the question to the council for an opinion.

Other business of the meeting included an application from Major H. Cuthbert Holmes, who appeared to request the zoning of property near the corner of Pandora Avenue and Government Street as a garage area.

The committee will recommend the re-zoning to the council at its meeting on Monday evening.

Brunsdon's Boys Take Lead In Island Softball Championship

Champions Beat Silent Glows By Three-run Edge

Capture Second Game of Play-off 7 to 4; Eric Moir Pitches Well

LLOYD JONES BREAKS FINGER

Brunsdon's Boys were today one step nearer their goal, the lower island softball championship, after having scored a 7 to 4 win over Silent Glows yesterday evening at the Athletic Park, in the second game of the best out of five series. The first game ended in a 7 to 7 tie.

Bad luck dogged the Glows, in the sixth inning they lost their ace hurler, Lloyd Jones, who broke his finger attempting to stop a sizzler off Elmo Geddes' bat. To make matters worse Ed Dunc, right fielder, had to retire owing to sickness.

With the score standing 2 to 1 at the end of the sixth frame in their favor, Brunsdon's paved their way to victory when they sent four men to the limit, mostly through errors by their opponents. Jackie, third sacker for the Equimait boys, smacked a head ball over the first baseman's head, and Red Lawson, working at right field in Dunc's place, lost it after a good attempt. The bases were full. Lawson threw to Brown, who in turn threw a wild ball home and three men crossed the rubber. Before the side retired another man came home.

OPEN SCORING
Brunsdon's opened the scoring in the second frame when O'Connell came home on one of Jones' wild pitches. The score went to two, in the fifth frame when Jones repeated his wild throw and another man walked to the home plate. With two men out Jones was attempting to fan Geddes to retire the side. Geddes connected with one of his slants, and the twirler in trying to halt it broke the second finger of his pitching hand at the first joint. He was taken out of the game and replaced by "Chuck" Turner.

Brunsdon's got one more run in the ninth.
Silent Glows made up their total by scoring a lone run in the first, as well as the eighth, and a pair in the final frame.

The game was interesting to watch and close to home. Fans turned out for the first. The third game of the series will take place Tuesday evening at 6:15 o'clock at the enclosure.

Eric Moir hurled fine ball for the winners, and he got excellent support from his teammates.

Score by innings:
Brunsdon's Boys 010010401-7
Silent Glows 000001012-4
Batteries: Brunsdon, Moir and Dunc; Silent Glows, Jones, Turner and Caddell.

WIN C SECTION

Marking up a 7 to 6 victory, Equimait Meat Market were crowned C section softball champions yesterday evening, when they emerged victorious over Bell Barbers at Memorial Park, in the second game of the series. They took the initial match 15 to 6 and swept through the play-off series in straight victories.

Gaining a substantial lead in the first frame when seven men went the distance, Victor Longshoremen trounced Colbert's Grocery 9 to 1 yesterday evening at Victoria West Park. It was the second game of the D section play-offs. The Grocery squad won the initial match 8 to 1. The final game will be played this evening at Memorial Park at 6:15 o'clock.

Miss M. Leeming finished 7 up on par to take A class honors in the women's competition held at the Colwood Club. Mrs. George Strain topped the B class field by being 2 down.

GET 3-WAY ECONOMY By choosing a dependable Oldsmobile

FOR DEPENDABLE, low-cost motoring you cannot do better than invest in an Oldsmobile—"The Car That Has Everything". It will save you money in three ways.

1. SAVE ON GAS AND OIL. Owners will tell you that Oldsmobile gives them "more miles per gallon" than former cars which cost them less—and that Oldsmobile is remarkably thrifty on oil.

3. SAVE ON DEPRECIATION. So famous is the Oldsmobile for dependability and long life that it commands a high resale value. This fact represents another substantial saving to you.

May Readjust Road Projects

Tenders Are Higher Than Allocations For Provincial Works

Readjustment of the amount of work to be done on four provincial-dominion road projects, on which bids were opened yesterday, is expected in view of the fact that tenders were higher than the sum allocated for the work.

In the absence of Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, no comment was made on this situation today, although it was admitted that tenders were generally larger than anticipated, mainly due, it was believed, to specification that a proportion of relief labor must be used by the contractors.

Bids on the four projects totaled close to $400,000, while the work had been estimated at slightly more than $300,000.

The readjustment, it was expected, would probably include cutting down of work to be done on the Malahat Drive, where 4.7 miles of reconstruction was planned.

Huge Mud Shark Caught in Inlet

F. E. Guest With Aid of Ray Hill Beach 200-pounder in Saanich Arm

A seven-foot, 200-pound mud shark was the prize landed yesterday afternoon by Fred E. Guest, employee of the Bamberston cement works, while fishing for cod in the waters of Saanich Inlet off the coal yards at Bamberston.

Guest was still-fishing for cod in a dugout canoe and was using a perch for bait when the monster struck. Almost instantly the angler realized he had something unusual at the other end of his line and hastily playing out his line he paddled for shore as fast as he could go. When he was on the beach and playing the big fellow he called for Ray Hill, another fisherman, to come and aid him. Together they managed to beach the heavyweight.

Interchange Of Travel Grows

Increase in Tourist Business Between Hawaii and Canada

Herbert F. Cullen, assistant secretary of the Hawaii Tourist Bureau, who is contacting tourist organizations in Canada and the United States, was taken out to Brentwood by George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, yesterday and had the satisfaction of landing four springs, which gave him plenty of fish.

Mr. Cullen has had plenty of experience fishing for tuna and swordfish in Hawaiian waters, but this is the first time he has gone after salmon, and he was quite thrilled by his catch.

Hawaii is experiencing a tourist year second only to 1928, which was a peak year for the mid-Pacific group, said Mr. Cullen in commenting upon the great influx of tourists to the Pacific Northwest this season.

He spoke of the steady increase in interchange of travel between British Columbia and Hawaii, a movement fostered by the Canadian Pacific ships touching at Honolulu and the Canadian-Australasian liners.

Mr. Cullen left the city last night on his way to Dallas, Texas, to attend the Texas Centennial, where he will show 10,000 feet of colored movie film, with sound, descriptive of the attractions of Hawaii.

Pattullo Stands By Sound Finance

In Declaration at Party Meeting in Vancouver, Premier Says B.C. Now Aims at Functioning Without Dominion Assistance; Reviews Platform and Government Accomplishments

Vancouver, July 24.—"It is the aim and object of this government to place the province in such a sound position that we shall be able to function within the ambit of our jurisdiction without appeal to the Dominion for aid," declared Premier Pattullo, speaking before the executive of the Provincial Liberal Association, here today.

"This is the crux of our whole position," the Premier continued, and added that Prime Minister Mackenzie King had laid it down as a cardinal principle that the provinces should be so placed that they could work without federal assistance.

The Premier's declaration of policy came after an exhaustive review of the Liberal platform at the last election and the steps taken by the government to implement it.

He termed that platform "of a very beneficial character," and added: "We must see to it that our next proposals are very definite and very practical, and for the benefit of the public at large. There is no use in merely theorizing in nebulous proposals. The Liberal party is a practical party. I know of no other instrumentality that can so effectively meet the needs and requirements of our people in a practical way."

SOUND FISCAL POLICY

Touching upon finances, the Premier said:

"The credit of this province has been very substantially improved by reason of our financial policy. We propose to continue upon a sound and stable basis."

In reference to recent political activity of the other parties and talk of a Liberal convention, he said: "At the most propitious time I think that we should hold a Liberal convention. I am inclined to believe that there will be more clear crystallized in the near future, and will place us in a better position when we next appeal to the people."

WORK AND WAGES

In the course of a review of the government's implementation of the Liberal platform, the Premier discussed the "work and wages" slogan of the party, saying he had nothing whatever to withdraw in connection with any statements he had made on the subject.

He pointed out that since the Dominion had sent authority over to a Liberal convention, the Premier discussed the "work and wages" slogan of the party, saying he had nothing whatever to withdraw in connection with any statements he had made on the subject.

"Within the limits of our authority we have certainly carried out our pledges to the people in this connection," he declared.

PAYROLLS BIGGER

Industry had been helped to secure wider markets and to extend payrolls. Labor laws had added millions to annual payrolls and various public works had been carried out to the extent of funds available. This year a $2,000,000 road and mining trail programme was under way with the two governments contributing.

The government's own financial position had been improved remarkably, he said. When it took office the province's credit had been shut off and it had $1,000,000 to meet immediate obligations and had no funds. Since then it had built up surpluses on current account in the last two and a half years so that it was able to pay a $3,500,000 maturity in May. Income taxes had been reduced in the lower brackets, as promised. The health insurance plan had been implemented, marketing control effected for agricultural, educational reform launched and a road hard-surfacing policy commenced.

MUNICIPALITIES

On the municipal problem, he said: "I may say that we have been of considerable assistance to the municipalities in assuming an ever larger share of unemployed costs. We had hoped to be able to adjust our relationship to the Dominion so as to secure additional sources of revenue that would enable us to deal more effectively with the municipal problem. Recently the House of Commons passed a resolution which would have given the provinces additional powers of taxation under the British North America Act, but our worthy Senate threw the measure out. The problem, however, has been and is under minute study by the Department of Finance and the Department of Municipal Affairs and a measure will be introduced at the next session of the legislature which will be of very substantial benefit to the municipalities."

Bell Rings But No One Answers

They Called a Meeting of the Cabinet Today But the Government Was on Business Elsewhere

Friday morning, 10:25 o'clock. In each cabinet minister's office rang out the five-minute warning bell for the usual Friday meeting of the B.C. Executive Council. But at 10:30 o'clock, when council assemblies met at the executive chamber, the clock whose duty it is to ring the bell blushed when he suddenly recalled that every member of the government was in Vancouver attending the Liberal executive meeting today. "It was a mistake," the press was informed.

SEASON CLOSES ON AUGUST 10

The halibut fishing season along the British Columbia coast will close at midnight, August 10, it was announced on behalf of the International Fisheries Commission here today by George J. Alexander, B.C. Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries, one of the Canadian representatives.

At the rate of the present catch the quota of 21,700,000 pounds set for the British Columbia coast, which takes in the British Columbia coast, will be reached by that date, the commission's experts calculate.

With average catches better this year it has taken about two weeks less to reach the quota. The season opened March 15. Last year fishing opened officially on March 15, but a dispute until the Canadian boats until April 1. The result was the quota was not reached until September 6.

Better catches this season are cited by the commission experts as evidence of their previously reported contention that regulation of the fishery has increased the stock on the depleted halibut banks. In view of this certain sections of the fisherman are pressing to have the quota raised for next year, but this is unlikely, it was explained, because young halibut do not spawn until they are eleven years old. While the young stock has undoubtedly increased, it would only under the good work already accomplished if the quota limits were raised immediately, it was stated, although this is the ultimate aim of the commission.

SHOOT MOVIE DURING NIGHT

Central Films at Oak Bay Boathouse Until 4 a.m. Today

The cast and production crew of Central Films Limited slept in late today, and at 10 o'clock not one of them had yet come down into the lobby of the Dominion Hotel. The company was out working until 4 o'clock this morning at the Oak Bay boathouse, filming night sequences for "Why Let 'Em Live?" Many Oak Bay people stayed out to watch two launches in a motionless chase alongside the boathouse wharf, with Lyle Talbot, the leading man, and Eddie Acuff, the heavy, ducking police bullets in their boat with a stream of property wash coming from a pipe at its stern.

Ten-year-old Wally Albright, child actor, arrived from Hollywood on the Ss. Emma Alexander last night with his mother, Mrs. Lois Albright, to take a prominent

ATLAS THEATRE

Having as its central character one of those South American range riders who became internationally famous for their daring and skill in the saddle, RKO Radio's "Hi Gaucho!"—now being shown at the Atlas Theatre—contains some of the most spectacular horse-manship yet seen on the screen, besides exciting romance and gay melody.

John Carroll, adventurer-singer, makes his first screen appearance in the leading role of "Hi Gaucho!" The tall, dark Louisianan learned his saddle stunts working with cattle outfits in the American southwest. He refused to use a double in the picture.

"Sudden Death"
Frances Drake and Randolph Scott Have Leading Roles in Stirring Drama

A top-speed romance, with the menace of auto death playing the role of villain, is told in the powerful Paramount film "And Sudden Death," which opened today at the Dominion Theatre. Frances Drake and Randolph Scott hold leading roles in the picture's love story.

Miss Drake is the fast-driving daughter of a motored leader in her town's civic affairs. She has been cited for reckless driving many times, and finally Scott, a police lieutenant, takes up the job of trying to teach her motor responsibility.

He succeeds, and a romance between the two begins. Shortly after, however, the girl is riding with her intoxicated brother, Tom Brown, when he drives his machine into a school bus, injuring a number of children and causing the death of one.

Featured players include Billy Lee, Fuzzy Knight, Terry Walker and Porter Hall. The picture, inspired by the article printed in Reader's Digest which started national agitation against traffic deaths, was directed by Charles Barton.

Also being shown in the second feature is Sir Guy Standing in "Palm Springs."

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Reunion in Hollywood—after twenty-three years—was the surprise that awaited Wallace Ford and Clarence Wilson recently. The two stars met at Mascot Studios to take roles in "One Frightened Night," the uproarious mystery comedy now being shown at the Columbia Theatre with Charles Grapewin, Mary Carlisle, Arthur Hohl, Evelyn Knapp and others also featured.

It developed that Ford acted in Wilson's stock company in Winnipeg, Canada, in 1912, though both had since forgotten.

PLAZA THEATRE

Samuel Goldwyn's latest production for release through United Artists, "Splendor," is now showing at the Plaza Theatre, where it is the feature attraction.

In the leading roles are Miriam Hopkins, Joel McCrea, Paul Cavanagh, Helen Westley, Billie Burke, David Niven, Katherine Alexander, Ruth Weston and others.

"White Angel" Here Tomorrow

"The White Angel," First National's dramatization of the life of Florence Nightingale, will open at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow, with Kay Francis in the stellar role.

The story of this wealthy English girl who renounced a life of social frivolities to become a war nurse and the groundwork for what subsequently became the Red Cross, is filled with absorbing drama, tragedy and romance.

The picture is set in the period of the Crimean War and brings an entirely new locale period and atmosphere to the motion picture public. Although the picture begins in London, Florence Nightingale's home, where she fought to clean up the disreputable hospitals of the time, and ends in the same metropolis when the famous nurse was decorated by Queen Victoria, the most dramatic scenes take place in the English military headquarters, barracks and base hospital at Scutari, a Turkish town on the north shore of the Bosphorus; at the quay at Boulogne; the port of Marseilles; and the field hospital and battle line at Balaklava, where the famous Light Brigade rode to its death.

On the stage Clement May, eminent stage and screen star, will present an entertaining act. His quick-change characterizations of Charles Dickens, Uriah Heep, Wilkins Micawber and Scrooge provide fine entertainment.

FAMOUS SHOW TO PLAY AT CAPITOL

Oleson and Johnson will bring to the Capitol Theatre on Wednesday their newest and latest species of insanity, "Anything Happens," with thirty-five glamorous girls and a new collection of gags.

Profit-taking At Wall Street Pares Many Of Leaders

Associated Press. New York, July 24.—Selected stocks forged ahead for gains of fractions to three or more points in today's market, but late profit-taking tumbled many of the recent leaders and the close was irregular.

Transfers were around 1,350,000 shares. While many of the recent leaders were restrained by profit-taking, outstanding soft spots were few. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 1,350,000 shares.

While the major motor issues appeared to be in a resting mood, automobile equipment stocks exhibited a strong tone partly in response to a sharp increase in motor car production this week.

Favorable earnings' statements continued to make pleasing reading for Wall Street, although here and there an exception appeared.

A rally in farm implements followed predictions of more rain in the drought districts.

J. I. Case, Minneapolis-Honeywell, and Douglas Aircraft got up some five points each at their best.

Bonds pushed to the front for substantial advances. Foreign gold currencies were lower in terms of the dollar. Cotton was up most of the day. Corn at Chicago reached 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 a bushel, and wheat was up 1 1/2 to 2c.
